v.)

Case No. CJ 2009-10905

The Estate of Bryan David Roark,) Defendant.)

AGREED ORDER AUTHORIZING CONDITIONAL INTERVENTION BY CHRISTIANA K. ROARK

This matter came on for hearing before this Court on November 13, 2009, on a Motion to Intervene (Motion) seeking the Court to permit Christiana K. Roark (C. Roark) to intervene as a matter of right in the above-styled action. The Plaintiff contends that an unconditional intervention would undermine the efficient administration of the receivership and divert resources and the Receiver's efforts from activities intended to benefit the entire receivership. However, Plaintiff agrees to this conditional intervention by C. Roark due to her special status as joint holder with her deceased husband, Bryan Roark, of certain receivership assets. The Court finds that good cause exists for granting the Motion on the terms set forth herein.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that C. Roark will be allowed to intervene in this matter but only with respect to any issues relating to any real property which C. Roark held in joint tenancy with Bryan Roark and/or any other asset for which she is an owner of record.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that all litigation shall be stayed with respect to any other marital assets until such time as the Plaintiff and/or the Receiver completes an analysis of the bank records relating to the activities that are the subject of this matter.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, ADJUDGED AND DECREED that C. Roark as a conditional intervenor will not be permitted to conduct discovery activities without seeking leave of Court prior to taking such actions.

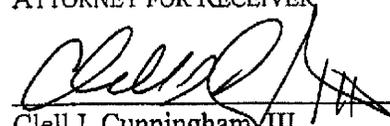

Dated this 13 day of November, 2009.
